

Alivia George & David Thompson

An international exhibition of new art by two emerging artists at Joe the Art of Coffee 405 West 23rd St New York, NY.

Allen Gallery is pleased to present Alivia George & David Thompson: Opening, Thursday Dec 4th.

Within their paintings, Alivia and David encourage visual dialogues to develop through use of colour and composition. The concept of none physical barriers are the basis for the work in either its construction or visual deconstruction.

Color, space and placement are all tools in conveying a personal perspective on relationships whether romantic or domestic. The realization of the importance of past and present interactions of these associations allows a third part perspective.

-Alivia George

“Composing colour gradients on multiple canvases allows me to engineer structures of continual transformation, depth and perception”

-David Thompson

David Thompsons work was recently described by a US curator Michel Allen as: “an enlightening equilibrium.” Thompson’s work seeks to ignite a personal and spiritual conversation by which to bridge the unconscious.

Both artists have come together in this unique exhibition to explore and inspire Allen Gallery’s mission to serve as a platform uniting the visions of emerging ad mid career artists.
